

A blue line-art illustration of a water tower on the right side of the page. The tower has a lattice structure and a domed top. At the base, there are some bushes or plants.

Since the beginning, we've grown beyond expectations.

Founded as a university farm, UC Davis today cultivates global solutions that merge disciplines and cross borders.

When you become an Aggie, you join a culture where creativity connects ideas from obvious to outlandish. Where inquiry pulls from any practice or profession. Where the most comprehensive solutions come from the most diverse minds.

Here you will reconsider the way things are done. And imagine a future that hasn't been thought of. Here one strives to not merely maintain but to improve. To exceed what's needed. To do what's just.

Rooted in a tradition of discovery, we grow from every challenge we take on and from every preconceived notion we leave behind.

UC DAVIS
OUTGROW
the expected

#UCDavisGrown